

Rockefeller Could Trouble State Demos

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that with the Rockefeller could easily cause trouble for the Democratic gubernatorial nominee in the November general election.

"I've said all along that Rockefeller was waiting in the wings and that if he heard the call, he'd go," Faubus said. "A few more calls like the one he got Friday night could easily put him in the race. He may go anyway."

Nearly 2,000 Republicans listily cheered Rockefeller at a GOP rally in Fayetteville Friday night, and Rockefeller responded that he was considering running for governor.

Faubus said he personally would have no fear about opposing Rockefeller. "But some other (Democratic) candidate might have trouble because he would not be as well organized as I would," Faubus said.

Faubus withdrew March 31 as a potential candidate for a fifth term. He since has said jestingly that he might reconsider because of the reluctance of other Democratic candidates to enter the race.

However, Faubus reportedly is telling his supporters in letters he is sending to persons who have urged him to run again that, "As time goes by, my decision (to withdraw) appears to be the right one."

Music Box Not Subject to Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that music machine receipts are not subject to sales taxes.

The 5-2 ruling came in a Pointsett County case filed by C. E. Tolliver against the state Revenue Department and affirmed the finding of Chancellor Gene Bradley.

The majority opinion said the 1941 Gross Receipts Tax Act failed to levy a tax on music machine collections and that Act 120 of 1959, which provides that operators shall collect such a tax, also fails to levy it.

A tax cannot be levied by implication, the majority said.

Chief Justice Carlton Harris and Justice Paul Ward dissented on the contention that the 1941 act levies a sales tax on money spent for "access to use of amusement facilities." They said a coin inserted in a music machine slot technically was paying for access to amusement by the music.

Tolliver, who operates a number of amusement machines in Pointsett County, filed the suit after the Revenue Department sought to collect from him $2,535 in taxes and $253 in penalties for his coin machine revenues between July 1, 1957 and June 30 of 1960.

In another opinion, the Supreme Court reversed a divorce decree given Ralph Lewis Haller against Doris Haller in Arkansas Chancery Court.

The Supreme Court said the Chancery Court erred in insisting on giving Haller the divorce even though he attempted to withdraw a cross-complaint against Mrs. Haller's divorce suit. The court said the function of the law was to sustain marriages, not disrupt them.

Liz Returns to Work on New Movie

ROME (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton were back together today playing Cleopatra and Marc Antony after a week-end apart while Burton visited his wife in Paris.

Both showed up on the set for a long day's work on a scene in their picture in which they are filmed together but exchanged no tender talk.

Miss Taylor, who was out with Burton almost every night last week, did not go to the airport to meet him when he arrived Sunday night from his Paris visit to his wife, Sybil.

Sybil flew back to London from Paris, but Burton said he expected her to rejoin him in Rome soon. He did not say when.

Burton's wife had been with him in Rome until a month ago. She left as indications were piling up that Burton was playing Antony to Miss Taylor's Cleopatra off the set as well as on.

Since then Miss Taylor has announced she is planning to divorce husband Eddie Fisher. She and Burton started holding hands in Rome restaurants and night spots. Burton flew to Paris for a day of retakes on the film "The Longest Day." When newsmen in the French capital asked if he planned to marry his Taylor, the 35-year old British actor replied, "I am married."

Court Rules on Committee Dispute

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that John T. Duckett is the legal chairman of the Faulkner County Democratic Central Committee.

The ruling ended a dispute of two years standing between a faction headed by Duckett and a group headed by former State Sen. Guy H. Jones.

Jones was elected committee chairman late in 1960, after he had been defeated in a bid for reelection to the Senate. Some committee members thought Jones was ineligible for the office, since his Senate term did not expire until the following Jan. 1, and later elected Duckett to the chairmanship.

Jones filed suit, contending he technically no longer was a senator, since he had been defeated. Faulkner Circuit Judge Audrey Strait rejected this contention and his view was upheld by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court said a constitutional prohibition against a state legislator holding any other elective public office during his term is clear and incontestable. It said the County party committee chairmanship is a public office, since such chairmen automatically are members of the County Board of Election Commissioners.

New Commissioner Remains Secret

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Apparently Arkansas won't learn the name of its new Highway Commissioner Wednesday as some had expected.

The Highway Commission meets Wednesday, but Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today the new man probably won't attend because "he hasn't formally been appointed yet."

Faubus declined again to name the man, although he previously has said the commissioner "has been appointed and notified of his appointment."

The new commissioner will replace Harry W. Parkin of Little Rock, who resigned so his firm could bid on state printing contracts.

Faubus would give no reason for his failure to name the new commissioner. Asked why he has not, Faubus grinned and replied, "That's a good question."

Sikes Will Run — If He Can Win

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arnold Sikes, executive secretary to Gov. Orval E. Faubus, has tossed his hat back into the Arkansas political ring.

Sikes said today he will run for governor if it appears he can win. Earlier he had expressed an interest in the race for secretary of state, but withdrew himself from consideration, saying he had offers in private business paying twice as much as that job.

Sikes said friends in Paris, Ark., his home town, had raised the $1,500 filing fee and promised to solicit more money if he decides to run.

"I accept it on the condition that, if I don't run, it will be returned to contributors," Sikes said today.

Sikes also said he had been receiving numerous phone calls and letters urging him to become a candidate for governor.

French Voters Endorse Plan of de Gaulle

By DAVID M. MASON

PARIS (AP)—French voters have overwhelmingly approved President Charles de Gaulle's peace pact with the Algerian nationalists. The Secret Army Organization, fighting to keep Algeria French, replied with more terrorist killings and defiant proclamations printed in newspaper plants occupied at gunpoint.

Sixty-five per cent of the 26,983,275 voters in metropolitan France endorsed De Gaulle's Algerian policy Sunday in response to his plea for a public show of confidence. Only 25 per cent of the registered voters failed to cast ballots, and 90 per cent of the valid ballots were cast in favor of the peace agreement.

There was no voting in Algeria itself. European extremists there killed at least 26 persons and wounded 67.

Commando bands raided plants of the Oran Echo and Oran Republican in the west Algerian port city early today and forced pressmen at gunpoint to run off thousands of copies of the papers labeled "Special Secret Army Edition."

The rightist secret army was dealt a psychological setback, however, by the French people's thunderous endorsement of De Gaulle's Algerian policy even though it means the end of the once far-flung French empire.

Incomplete returns from metropolitan France and Corsica were: yes—17,505,473; no—1,794,553. A total of 1,102,477 ballots were invalid.

De Gaulle's supporters heralded the verdict as a ringing vote of confidence in all aspects of his four-year-old regime. Socialists and Communists, however, emphasized they were backing only his Algerian policy.

De Gaulle put before the voters a two-point proposal. One called for confirmation of the cease-fire signed with the Algerian rebel command at Evian on March 19. The other asked for blank-check powers to make Algeria an independent Moslem-ruled nation if—as everyone expects—the Algerians favor independence in a self-determination referendum later this year.

A 12-man provisional executive dominated by Moslems already is preparing the ground in Algeria for the self-determination vote. A French high commissioner is still in charge, however, until an independent Algerian government takes over.

Guion Residents to Run a Ferry

Announces for State Office

Kelly Bryant

Kelly Bryant of Hope, who announced last week his intentions to enter the race for secretary of state, will make it official Tuesday when he pays a $500 filing fee to Secretary of State Naney Hall.

The filing fee was paid with 50 ten dollar checks, all contributions from friends in Hope and Hempstead County.

The office of secretary of state will be vacated at the end of this year by Mrs. Naney Hall, who is ineligible to succeed herself in as much as she was appointed by Governor Faubus to serve the unexpired term of her late husband, former secretary C. G. (Crip) Hall.

Bryant was graduated from the University of Arkansas in 1934 with a bachelor of science degree in business administration.

After his marriage in 1935 to Elizabeth Sutton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Sutton of Marianna, he established his home in Hope. A daughter, Betty, is a senior at Hope High School and will enroll at the U of A in September. Bryant is a Methodist and a Rotarian.

Bryant published a daily newspaper at Hope from 1939 to 1951. Since then he has been co-publisher of the Arkansas Almanac and editor of the official magazine of the Arkansas Sheriff's Association.

He also served 2½ years as state printing clerk in the state auditor's office. Because of his experience and knowledge of state printing requirements he was named by the secretary of state to act as bid analyst last year and this year when bids were opened on state printing contracts.

Bryant said of his candidacy: "I have been active in state affairs and state business for many years; having served in various capacities during this time. I feel I am qualified to fulfill the duties of this office in every phase and manner."

Dwight Ridgill, 53, Succumbs Here Saturday

John Dwight Ridgill, aged 53, died late Saturday in a local hospital. He was a member of the First Methodist Church and served as secretary of the Century Bible Class.

He was a member of Woodmen of the World and a past member of the Lions Club and at the time of his death was chief office deputy for the Sheriff and Collector.

Survivors include his wife and a sister, Mrs. Lillie Mae Coker of Glenwood, Ark.

Funeral services were to be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the First Methodist Church under direction of Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Service. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

2 Americans Killed in S. Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas killed two American military advisers to South Viet Nam troops and apparently captured two others Sunday in an ambush near a U.S. helicopter base 360 miles north of Saigon.

The four enlisted men were ambushed on a training mission with Vietnamese soldiers near the town of An Chau, on the South China Sea, U.S. military authorities said.

Reports reaching Saigon said the four were with a group of 35 Vietnamese soldiers at a government outpost when a large Viet Cong band attacked. One Vietnamese was also killed and four wounded.

The Communists withdrew 15 minutes after the raid, apparently expecting a government air strike, the reports said. A government relief force arrived too late to engage the guerrillas.

The ambush brought American casualties in South Viet Nam since last Dec. 1 to 18 killed, 2 wounded and 3 missing. Only one of the previous dead was killed by the Viet Cong. The other American deaths were accidental. South Vietnamese troops killed 25 guerrillas in a weekend attack near the Cambodian border, the semi-official news agency said.

Farm Bureau Board to Meet

Exiles Plan to Visit Cuba to Talk Ransom

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exile negotiators will fly to Havana Tuesday in hopes of inducing Prime Minister Fidel Castro to reduce the $62 million set as ransom for their sons and husbands captured at the Bay of Pigs.

A spokesman for the Cuban Families Committee said Castro replied favorably Sunday night to a cable seeking an audience with him.

The vice treasurer of the committee, Enrique Llaena, said the committee already has raised $26 million in cash and pledges in four months to aid the prisoners.

The 1,179 prisoners, captured in the abortive invasion last April, were sentenced to 30 years imprisonment each pending payment of ransoms ranging from $25,000 to $500,000.

The unusual verdict came Saturday night by a five-man military tribunal, Havana newspapers reported. The trials were closed to the American press.

Prosecutor Jose Santiago had called for the severest penalties. The maximum penalty is death, but Castro had been reported wary of imposing it.

Some exiles here believe the sentences and ransom provision resulted from the family committee's offer to negotiate for the captives' release. A cable offering to negotiate was sent Saturday.

The price for prisoners, has more than tripled since Castro made his startling offer last May to swap the prisoners for 500 tractors.

In New York, the chairman of the International Rescue Committee, Leo Cherne said his organization would not negotiate with the Cuban government to ransom the prisoners.

Cherne compared the ransom offer to that made by the Germans during World War II—10,000 trucks for the lives of 100,000.

The families committee, which took over efforts to free the captives after the International Rescue Group gave up the project, told Castro "the concrete offer we are ready to make you does not refer to tractors."

Sentiment among Miami's 100,000 or more Cuban exiles did not appear unified.

Antonio de Varona, a member of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, called the sentences political blackmail. "It is a verdict that could have been hatched only in the mind of a paranoic," he said.

One exile who asked not to be named said, "Instead of spending $62 million to ransom them, let's use the money to buy arms. In any event, Castro won't last 30 years (the length of the sentence)."

Girls State

The Star: The American Legion
Auxiliary would like to take this means of expressing to you and your staff our sincere thanks for your wonderful cooperation and assistance in our effort to secure additional sponsors to help send Hope girls to "Arkansas Girls State." Through the efforts of the many warm-hearted responses,
we are now able to send 10 girls
to Little Rock for one week.

The purpose of "Girls State" is to educate young girls of High School age in the duties, privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship. As a delegate, they actually have the opportunity to study their government and participate in it from a local level right on through the state and national level. The fundamentals
they learn through this participation are meaningful and very lasting, and we truly feel they return better citizens with a wealth of knowledge to share with others.

We feel certain that the girls elected to go will represent their city in such a manner that those who responded so quickly, will be proud of their part in making this week possible for them.

Again may we say "Thank you"
and through your paper also express our appreciation to all who cooperated with us in this effort.

Conservative Trend Seems to Be Fading

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The
prospect that ultraconservatives will influence the course of the major political parties in this fall's congressional elections appears to be fading.

Leaders of both parties, in fact,
are busy posting keep-away signs
against zealous citizens who profess to feel that some of the nation's highest officials are entrapped in a Communist conspiracy.

The signs apply also to those who, among other things, want to abolish the income tax and to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren.

This was demonstrated in the frosty reception Republicans and Democrats gave last week to former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker
when he questioned the loyalty of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others in testimony before a Senate Armed Services subcommittee.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., who sparked the inquiry into alleged muzzling of military men
at which Walker appeared, made it clear several times he was not endorsing the general's statements.

Walker's performance on the witness stand convinced most of the politicians who heard him that the former general is not likely to become an effective spokesman for the far right.

Sen. Leverell Saltonstall, R-
Mass., said he couldn't go along with Walker's charges. Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said they weren't supported by the record.

Sen. John M. Stennis, D-Miss.,
head of the Senate group that heard Walker's testimony, said he has no intention of calling for an inquiry into the records of persons accused by the former general of being soft on communism.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., used Walker's appearance to tee off against what he called the "radical right in the Democratic party." Walker is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor in Texas. His chances are regarded as poor.

Javits said in a New York television broadcast Sunday that "the radical right is not only a threat to the Republican party, it is also a threat to the Democratic party."

But Sen. John Sparkman, D-
Ala., who votes with the Kennedy administration on just about everything but civil rights, said in an interview he wasn't worried by any right-wing threat to his
party.

"The truth of the matter is,"
he said, "I don't think these people are going to have any real influence in either party."

Strict Saturday night. She had cuffed but not seriously injured
a pedestrian.

Molner had trapped her in the entryway to the bar by driving his cruiser onto the sidewalk to block the exit.

Police with riot guns trained on the big cat formed a semi-circle around the entrance. They brought in dogs to hold back a crowd of 500 or more curious.

At the City Auditorium a block away the wrestling matches had just ended and nearly 5,000 fans had started for the exits when word spread that the lions were free.

"We had to lock them in the lobby until the animals were caught," said manager Charles Mancuso. "It was a real panic."

Guy Gossing, Carmen's Belgian-
born trainer, arrived with a net and a chair. The shouting crowds and barking dogs made the lion
more unruly.

"Please, quiet," he pleaded.
After almost an hour Carmen finally was coaxed into a police paddywagon which had replaced Molner's cruiser. Gossing was on the point of collapse.

Meanwhile, a man had breathlessly informed police: "I may be mistaken but I think there's a lion in the stairway behind the Ace Bar."

It turned out to be Diane, Carmen's missing companion. Her cage was brought from the truck and Gossing coaxed her in—an hour and 45 minutes after the first lion alarm.

BANKING ON DEATH

BY EMMA LATHEN

Only a firm belief that blood is thicker than water explained why Arthur Schneider found himself ir-ritably pacing up and down at the South Station the following Thursday. He knew from experience that his sister Grace was not likely to be a pleasant or co-operative house guest.

Something of his feelings must have been reflected in his expression when, a few minutes later, he made his way through the crowd clustered at Exit 16. Grace, transferring her fur coat to him,
gave him a perfunctory kiss on the cheek, then said, in clear ringing tones, "Arthur! What are you scowling at already?"

Arthur repressed a sharp retort
and said, "Good to see you Grace.
How are Rowland and the children?"

Grace fell in beside him and they walked to Atlantic Avenue.
By the time they reached the car,
Arthur had found out that Rowland was still in the Canal Zone.

Colonel Walworth was a great man for overseas assignments and a bad man for promotions, Martin had once observed — that Philip was just getting into practice after having borrowed $7,000 from his father and that Naomi was in Europe for a year's study of what Grace called The Voice.

"Why can't she come up to the New England Conservatory?"
"Really, Arthur," Grace cried
in an affected voice, "I don't know what's the matter with you. Naomi is certainly not going to bury herself in Boston!"

"It's going to cost you a good deal of money," he was stung into commenting.

"That's exactly what I'm here
for," Grace said, triumphantly.
"Arthur, I've been telling you all along that you don't understand how enormous my expenses are,
with the children and everything."

The night before, Jane Schneider, normally the most helpful of daughters, had refused to postpone her extended weekend in New York even though it would entail
a departure the morning after her aunt's arrival. One evening was enough she had said, pointing out that it was too much to ask that she sit around for four days to listen to Aunt Grace compare her unfavorably to Naomi. "You see Daddy, she has a real problem on her hands."

Arthur was forced to admit Jane was right. Naomi was a fox-faced blonde with a tendency to weight. Their cousin Philip the children referred to as "The Beetle." As for his brother-in-law, Arthur Schneider had always considered him mentally deficient.

"Now Grace . . ."
"Don't 'now Grace' me, Arthur.
You know as well as I do that when I was trying to get some action from the Bank about the trust
both of you simply avoided me."

Arthur honked his horn savagely at a truck that was blocking his way.

"And don't lose your temper, Arthur," Grace said patronizing-
ly. "Try to be reasonable about the whole thing for a change. Now that this miserable trust business has developed—and I'm sure that if we had done something earlier

all this could have been avoided
—at any rate, now that it develops that we're getting the fifty thousand and no more, you and Marlin and I are simply going to have to do something about raising the dividends. Martin agrees with me."

"Well, if you and Martin can figure out just how we're going to raise our dividends while our earnings are going down, and we still have to pay the bank over a million dollars," Arthur snarled,

"I for one would be grateful."

"Martin said that if we did more research . . ." Grace began.

Arthur again exploded. "Grace,
don't you understand English?
How is spending money on research going to bring our earnings up?" he shouted. "And where are you going to get the money to do research. Can't you see that it means putting money in, not taking it out? And we don't have it."

"Well, why not?" Grace said, using a tone of voice suited to recalcitrant children.

"I'll tell you why," Arthur said
savagely. "It's your precious Marlin. If he could keep our sales where they were five years ago—
not increase them, mind you, but keep them level—we could keep our gross up. And do some development work."

"I thought he was doing a good job. I mean," Grace said.

"I've explained this to you time and time again, and I'll explain it now: from 1945 to 1952, anybody who wasn't deaf, dumb and blind could have sold felt. That," he said with heavy sarcasm, "that was when you let Martin talk you into backing him up when he insisted on moving the Distribution Branch to New York. It added
$100,000 a year to your costs.

Since 1952 things have been getting a good deal tighter, and our
New York office costs us $200,000
a year."

17 Fatal Accidents in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kenneth P. Thomas, 20, of Little Rock was fatally injured Sunday
after his car crashed into a bridge 16 miles south of Little Rock on U.S. Highway 65, shortly before a close-following truck struck the bridge railing.

Thomas' death brought to 17 the number of persons dying violently
in Arkansas during the week ended last midnight.

At Fort Smith late Saturday night, three young Negro boys drowned in a pond.

Coroner B. G. Hendrix said an investigation would continue into the deaths of Skippy Jones, Ronald James and Johnny Williams,
all eight years old.

Their bodies were recovered in five feet of water in the pond located inside the Fort Smith city limits, several hours after they were reported missing.

During the week, two persons died in a fire, three were fatally wounded, one died in a tractor accident, two were killed by trains one died in a fall, one died of injuries suffered in a fight, one was crushed to death, three drowned
and three died in traffic accidents.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemor-roids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made dramatic statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyn)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available
in suppository or ointment form
under the name Preparation H.
At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Rebecca Closes Out Theater 62

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Daphne du Maurier's durable "Rebecca" wound up NBC's "Theatre 62" dramatic series for the season with considerable style Sunday night.

James Mason, looking like Ernest Hemingway in his pre-heard days, was a remote and anguished Maxim de Winter. Joan Hackett, in frumpish clothes, was shy and appealing as the second Mrs. de Winter. Nina Foch was believable as grim, fanatic Mrs. Danvers.

The settings were lovely. The mood was perfect. The adaptors hewed close to the original story. But lacking was one element—oh, such an important element—and that was time.

There just wasn't enough time in those 50-odd minutes of live drama to do more than sprint through the story, no time to develop and explore the characters of the principals. For those of us who read the book and later saw the movie it was like reading a condensation or watching an edited version of the original.

CBS' "Laudes Evangelii" Sunday afternoon was a moving and quite beautiful religious drama of dance, song and pantomime, accompanied by readings from the New Testament.

The British-made film told with simplicity and in impressive background the story of Christ from the Annunciation to the Ascension. It was an appropriate and handsome program for the Lenten season.

"The Vanishing 400," NBC's Friday night special, proved to be a dull and slow moving documentary-type show about society. The old photographs and films were amusing but generally the producers seemed timid about injecting a point of view, so it just rambled and got nowhere.

Dear Helen: Tell your readers not to be shocked by the term "mental hospital." I was recently helped by a three-weeks stay in one. The mind, just like the rest of the body, can be sick and, with the proper treatment, fully recover.

Modern psychiatric treatment is realistic. The sanatorium where I stayed was like a small, exclusive hotel with good food, beautiful grounds and fascinating courses in occupational therapy.

My youth was made miserable by continuous quarreling between my mother and father. She became ill, due at least in part to the bickering and died. My father was lost without her and is now in a nursing home. As a result of all this, my nerves cracked but now, thanks to my stay in that sanatorium, I have entirely recovered.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets usually represent only a portion of available. Write for "To Marry—your family background. Accent or Wait."

Palmer Is Favored in the Playoff

By MERCER BAILEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, who again has proven he is the game's greatest pressure player, was favored over Gary Player and Dow Finsterwald in today's 18 hole playoff for the 26th Masters golf championship.

No less an authority than Player, the little defending champion from South Africa, made that appraisal of the dramatic windup head-to-head battle.

"Personally, I feel that on this course, his distance off the tee gives him an advantage," Player said. "But you never know what will happen in a round of golf. I'm not giving up."

Palmer, leading Finsterwald by two shots and Player by four going into Sunday's fourth round, made the playoff only by staging another of his fantastic finishes.

After straying tee shots and a balky putter that apparently had knocked Palmer out of the running, the strong boy from Latrobe, Pa., rallied spectacularly on the last three holes. He chipped in for a birdie on No. 16 and after two fine shots on 17 stroked in an eight-foot beauty for another birdie.

Finsterwald, one of the game's yeomen who is better known for close misses than his 1958 PGA championship victory, already was in by this time with a 73 and 280 total.

Palmer's 75 and Player's 71 forced the Masters into its first three-way playoff.

Only Gene Littler, the current U.S. Open champion, was in the thick of things with the three leaders in the final round. When Finsterwald bogied the 17th hole—and that was a costly bogey—Littler got a birdie and pulled within one shot of the leader. But he bogied the final hole and finished with a 71 and 282.

The 1962 Masters carried a record purse of $109,100.

Josephine, Crip Have Offspring
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Crip and Josephine are two bawling whooping cranes determined to do something about preserving their nearly extinct species.

Their fifth offspring cracked through its egg Sunday at Audubon Zoo to increase the world population of the rare bird to 48.

Crip and Josephine are taking turns incubating a second egg, which zoo director George Douglas believes will hatch by the end of the week.

The two adult whooping cranes, who are so shy Douglass keeps them away from public view, hatched the first of their species ever born in captivity four years ago.

The rusty-colored baby crane is about twice the size of a newly hatched chick.

"It's a very healthy bird," said Douglass, who put the baby under a 24-hour watch. "We are hopeful it won't catch aspergeriosis."

He said there is no known cure for the disease—a lung fungus caused by an airborne germ. It doesn't affect domestic fowl and many wild birds, but Audubon lost two cranes from the disease in the past.

Not be time enough to move sufficient cargo and that the strike could resume again afterward.

The spokesman for the striking unions, Morris Weisberger, secretary of the Sailors Union of the Pacific, was asked in San Francisco if he would fight the injunction. He withheld comment.

Gov. William F. Quinn of Hawaii had made several appeals to the White House for direct intervention. He had declared a food emergency in his island state, which was particularly hard hit by the strike.

In his order establishing the board Kennedy said the strike had affected a substantial part of the maritime industry and would, "if permitted to continue, imperil the national health and safety."

The walkout has idled some 60 ships on the West Coast and in Hawaii. East Coast-based ships and foreign vessels are not involved.

On strike along with the Sailors Union are the Marine Firemen and the Marine Cooks and Stewards. They called the walkout March 16 after months of negotiations had failed to bring agreement on terms for a new contract.

Legal Notice

NOTICE OF SALE OF HEMPSTEAD COUNTY, ARKANSAS GENERAL OBLIGATION INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT BONDS BEING ISSUED UNDER AMENDMENT NO. 49 TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF ARKANSAS.

Pursuant to Order of the Hempstead County Court, notice is hereby given that Hempstead County will sell to the highest bidder its proposed issue of $245,000 Hempstead County General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds, being issued under Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, dated April 1, 1962, with interest at the rate of 3.399% per annum, payable semi-annually on April 1 and October 1, 1962, and with the bonds to mature serially on April 1 of each year as follows:

YEAR	AMOUNT
1965	$10,000
1966	12,000
1967	13,000
1968	14,000
1969	16,000
1970	19,000
1971	21,000
1972	22,000
1973	23,000
1974	23,000
1975	24,000
1976	24,000
1977	24,000

The proceeds of the bonds will be used for the purpose of financing a portion of the cost of securing and developing industry within Hempstead County, Arkansas. The particular industrial project will consist of the acquisition of lands, the construction of an egg processing plant and facilities, the construction of housing facilities for laying hens, and the purchase and installation of necessary equipment and machinery. The cost of the project not covered by the bond issue will be paid by the industry. The portion of the project financed by the bond issue will be owned by the County and leased to Delight Egg Farms, Inc., for lease rentals at least sufficient to pay the principal of, interest on and paying agent's fees in connection with the bonds as the same become due and payable.

There will be levied a continuing annual tax of two (2) mills on the assessed valuation of the taxable real and personal property in the County, which said levy will continue until the principal of, interest on and paying agent's fees in connection with the bonds have been fully paid and discharged; provided, however, provision will be made for the suspension of the collection of the tax so long as project revenues are sufficient to pay the principal of, interest on and paying agent's fees in connection with the bonds as the same become due and payable, and maintain the reserve fund of $22,000.

The assessed valuation of Hempstead County, according to the 1961 assessment, latest assessment of record, is $13,680,720.

The purchaser may name the bank of payment and shall have the right to convert the bonds to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest with any conversion to be upon such terms that the County receive no less and pay no more than it would receive and pay if the bonds were not converted. Any conversion will be subject to the approval of the Bank of Payment and the County Court.

Expenses of the issue, including the printing and trustee of the bonds and the fee of Melhaff, Smith & Williams, Bond Counsel of Little Rock, Arkansas, upon whose approving opinion the bonds will be issued, will be paid by the County's fiscal agent, Dabbs Sullivan Company, Little Rock, Arkansas.

The bonds will be callable for payment prior to maturity in inverse numerical order at par and accrued interest from funds from any source on interest paying date. It will be provided that surplus tax revenues and surplus project revenues over and above the amount necessary to pay the principal of, interest on and paying agent's fees in connection with the bonds as the same become due and payable, and to establish and maintain a reserve for contingencies in the amount of $22,000, must be used from time to time on each interest paying date for the redemption of bonds prior to maturity as soon as funds are available therefor.

No contingent provisions may be included in any bid and no bid of less than par and accrued interest will be entertained.

The bonds will be sold upon auction bids, the sale to be held at 1 o'clock p.m., on the 23rd day of April, 1962, at the office of the County Judge in the Hemp
